AL	Frederick P. Whiddon College of Medicine at the University of South Alabama	Students meet one-on-one with two interviewers. Interviews last 30 to 45 minutes each and are conversational. Interviews will be virtual for the 2026-2027 interview cycle.	Early Decision interview invitations go out in the first week of September; all other invitations begin in mid-September.	The interview day begins at 9:00 AM with a welcome, that includes information about financial aid as well as how the admissions process works, this is followed by their interviews at 10:00 AM and 11:00 AM. After the interviews, the applicants meet virtually with medical students for an informal information session that includes time for questions, after which they go to breakout rooms to meet in small groups with current students for more insight about the Frederick P. Whiddon College of Medicine from the student perspective. They then come back to the main room for a short closing session led by the admissions team.	Regional interviews are not available.	Interviews will be virtual for the 2026-2027 cycle.
